What are we learning about this month?

Presidents' Day: Honoring Leadership and Legacy

Presidents' Day recognizes the lives and service of all United States presidents, celebrating their contributions and the systems they established.

Why is Presidents' Day Celebrated?

- To celebrate the Founding Fathers and to honor the dedication and efforts of U.S. presidents.
- To specifically recognize George Washington, the nation's first president.
- To honor Abraham Lincoln, who guided the nation through the Civil War.

What are we learning about this month?

Black History Month: Honoring Contributions and Inspiring Learning

Black History Month celebrates the achievements of Black Americans, reflects on the past, and inspires progress toward equity.

How We Celebrate and Learn

- Explore achievements in music, science, and activism.
- Highlight diversity and inclusion year-round.

Valentine's Spirit Day Friday, February 14th

Friday, February 14th

Scholars and staff are invited to wear pink or red to spread love and cheer.
Scholars may bring Valentine's cards to share with classmates (optional). Please write your child's name on the cards and leave the recipient's name blank for easy distribution. Thank you!
